

Press release
Aix-en-Provence, 12th February 2014

TIL TECHNOLOGIES announces the nomination of Jean-Marc MESONA as CEO

TIL TECHNOLOGIES, French manufacturer in the electronic security industry, who celebrated its 25th anniversary in 2013, announces a management reorganization. Jean-Marc MESONA, co-founder of TIL TECHNOLOGIES together with Marie-Solange BRISSE and Gines LINARES, will be replacing the latter as CEO.

Jean-Marc MESONA, “Arts et Métiers” Engineer, creator of the supervision software MICRO-SESAME and former Technical Manager at TIL TECHNOLOGIES, will now be leading the company global operations and strategy.

Gines LINARES will continue his collaboration as Counselor in Prospective and Innovation, entirely focusing on the design of a new product generation to take over the current renowned range of products from TIL TECHNOLOGIES.

To successfully accomplish this process, it will be supported by a reorganization in the R&D teams. The new organization will take place under the guidance of Laurent ROUYER, Product Manager at TIL TECHNOLOGIES, and former collaborator of CEGELEC EVOLYNX.

Both the nomination and the reorganization processes represent significant milestones for TIL TECHNOLOGIES, reinforcing the company focus on high-tech products for the electronic security market. The company will also be ready to meet new challenges, such as developing the export activity or working on a Quality certification project.

About TIL TECHNOLOGIES

Specialized in electronic security for buildings and facilities, TIL TECHNOLOGIES designs, manufactures and commercializes software and hardware for access control, intrusion detection, video-monitoring and facility management.

The TIL TECHNOLOGIES solutions have been implemented for many French companies (SNCF, LA POSTE, EDF, AXA, DCN...), as well as on different prestigious buildings (The FIRST tower in La Défense in Paris, the “Stade Vélodrome” in Marseille, the palace of Versailles...)

Independent society in steady growth, the company counts 75 collaborators -mainly engineers as well as technical and security experts- all with a common company goal: Becoming the first French independent manufacturer in electronic security and leader in sustainable protection.

www.til-technologies.fr

Press contact: Nicolas BOISSON, n.boisson@til-technologies.fr / 04 42 37 11 77